

If Nikita Comes, He Won't Forget Levittown

If Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev fulfills the hopes of President Eisenhower that his tour of this country will include Levittown, the Russian will be in for a memorable visit.

Municipal officials, civic leaders, politicians, businessmen and the man in the street were almost unanimous today in their wish to show a Communist how Americans live, work and play in the "real worker's paradise."

That Khrushchev will actually visit Levittown has not yet been determined.

But in his press conference yesterday at Gettysburg, President

Eisenhower, talking about Khrushchev's visit, commented.

"I would like him to see, for example, Levittown—the town surrounding the Fairless plant—and see this town universally and exclusively inhabited by its workmen, and to see what those homes are."

"I would like to have him fly along in my chopper (helicopter) and see the uncountable homes that have been built all around, modest but decent, fine, comfortable homes, all around this country."

The President erred slightly in his description of Levittown.

Though many steelworkers live in Levittown homes, the planned housing development provides homes for many persons employed in all types of professions and jobs.

Not only have most persons in official positions expressed their desire "to show Nikita the town," but an avalanche of invitations to attend meetings and social events is apparently under way.

The Robert W. Bracken Post American Legion Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, Bristol, has announced it will invite the Soviet Premier to attend its Eastern States Championship Drum and Bugle Corps Competition at Bristol High School, Sept. 19.

"What better way to show Khrushchev what Americanism really is," a Bracken Post spokesman said.

Another invitation is being sent to Khrushchev by the Middletown Democratic Association. Reubin Young, association president, said the Democrats would like to have Nikita as a guest at their annual fall dinner-dance, Oct. 3 at the Goodwill Fire Hall, Bristol.

The dinner-dance is an informal affair in which everyone dances and gets all they want to eat for $2.50. Even Republicans come, Young pointed out.

One of the few dissenting comments came from Edward R. Howley, president of the Falls Township Supervisors. He was reported as saying that Khrushchev will come here with a biased opinion and what he sees or hears is not likely to change his view.

Jack Ford, vice president of Local 4839, United Steelworkers, reported he thought the Soviet Premier should get the same courtesy here that Vice President Nixon received in Russia.

Khrushchev Would Better Understand An Editorial

Mr. Khrushchev should by all means visit Levittown, as suggested by President Eisenhower.

He should visit here sufficiently long to see all of Lower Bucks County.

No region in the whole land is more typical America 1959. No people are more typical Americans with their traditional and precious ideals and aspirations and their dogged determination to make the best of their pursuits of opportunity and happiness.

Nor is any region a better example of America's system of "capitalism" or free enterprise working 24 hours a day to enhance the dignity of Mr. and Mrs. America as individuals, to make life for them richer, more challenging, more satisfactory, more meaningful.

Mr. Khrushchev, as a matter of self-illumination, should note Levittown as a fabulous planned community of 17,500 modern and comfortable homes, a community replete with educational, religious, cultural and recreational advantage for everyone who lives here.

He should note Fairless Hills, a similarly planned community on a somewhat smaller scale.

If he is visiting America to understand what makes it tick, it should be significant to him that neither Levittown nor Fairless Hills or any other of the newly developed communities of Lower Bucks County was government inspired, or is government owned, government operated.

These communities were the result of dreams, vision, enterprise and investment of typical far-sighted American citizens.

The Soviet Premier should also note our business and industrial complex, our educational and our religious institutions.

He should talk to our millworkers, our store clerks, our school teachers, our small plant and store owners.

Perhaps it would help him to understand how it is that class distinctions as such in America have disappeared, that the dignity and standing of an assembly-line operator isn't much different from that of a corporation president, a doctor, a U. S. Senator.

He might also learn why, we believe, America's amazingly high standard of living makes it possible for the moderately salaried American to have an to enjoy the same advantages, opportunities, homes, automobiles, television, and home gadgets as do the rich.

We heartily second Mr. Eisenhower's invitation to Mr. Khrushchev to visit Levittown.

It is quite possible that though such a visit, Levittown and Lower Bucks might brighten the light of understanding and contribute immeasurably toward a less jittery world.

Good Evening!

Talk about news—Levittown, Lower Bucks in it again.

Ike invites Nikita to visit us here to really see what makes America tick and we can't think of a better idea. Where else could the tourist searching for light find a more typical slice of the U.S.A.?

And Jim Jenkins, the bank robber and prison escapee, finally captured in a Buffalo motel. We suppose it's just as well this way—all criminals are plain stupid.

If they weren't they wouldn't be thieves, robbers, crooks, hoodlums, goons, gangsters, etc., etc.

Messrs. Heat and Humidity teaming up again.

It seems we just can't have the one without the other, but as long as the nights cool off a bit, no serious complaints.

Only plaint today is that birds are beautiful, their rhapsodies exquisite, but why, oh why, do they have to start singing so early in the dawning?

That's when humans just start getting their best shut-eye.

Eyes of the country again on Little Rock.

Something of a shame, really, that the political interests of the nation are trafficking on the lives and welfare of the nation's children. Little Rock represents just about that.

Rough one last night for the Phillies. Only one way for Roberts to win, we guess—no-hitters.

Easy one for the lucky at the Atlantic City race course yesterday. Daily double paid $2,500 and hey, how are you supposed to know?

She unlocked the door to her apartment, turned and smiled sweetly at him. "Joe it was a perfectly wonderful evening. Please don't spoil it by asking me out again."

Employer, interviewing prospective secretary: "How's your spelling? Let me hear you spell 'Mississippi.'"

Secretary: "The river or the state?"

Careful driving does it.

$50,000 Bail Is Set

With Levittown's bank robber, James F. Jenkins, 38, safely tucked away under $50,000 bail the FBI today was tracing his money strewn trail to see what he had been doing since his daring jail break three-and-a-half months ago.

Jenkins, whose wife and daughter live at 81 Vermilion Lane, Vermilion Hills, Levittown, was arrested in a Buffalo, N. Y., motel, with a former cellmate, Henry Kiter, 27, of Philadelphia.

The FBI had the pair under intensive interrogation today and yesterday in an effort to determine if they had broken any other federal or local laws during their spending spree.

The authorities were also trying to determine what the arrested pair was doing in Buffalo and what they had been doing and where they had been since they teamed up after Jenkins broke out of the Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia, April 30.

Meanwhile, the wheels were put in motion to return the pair to Philadelphia where Jenkins must face charges of robbing a Brookline, Pa., bank of $17,730 on March 4.

According to the police, Jenkins robbed the bank with another Levittowner, Randall Nuss, who has since been convicted of the crime and is serving a prison term.

Kiter will be brought to face charges of assisting Jenkins even though he knew he was an escaped convict.

Kiter met Jenkins when both briefly shared the same cell at Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia, last spring.

At that time Kiter was awaiting trial in Philadelphia on charges of carrying a concealed deadly weapon. Kiter was later released under bail.

U. S. Attorney Harold Wood, of Philadelphia, said he sent certified copies of the warrant against Jenkins and Kiter to Buffalo as (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

No Violence As Negroes Enter Little Rock School

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Three Negro girls returned to Hall High School today for their second day of integrated classes, almost ignored by 700 white students.

There were no surface indications of new violence today at Central High School, where firemen and police broke up an unruly crowd yesterday with high-pressure fire hoses and nightsticks. Police arrested 24 persons. They later were released on bond.

One Negro is scheduled to attend Central when it opens at 1:30 p.m. e.s.t. (3:30 p.m. e.d.t.).

Mrs. L.C. Bates, president of the Arkansas chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that if the integration attempt can get through today, "we've got it licked."

There was no trouble yesterday at Hall, although a heavy police guard was prepared for it. Police still guarded a four-block perimeter about Hall today, but there was a noticeable air of relaxation.

The three Negroes—Effie Jones, Elsie Robinson and Estella Thompson—got out of an automobile at Hall four minutes before school opened at 9:30 a.m.

Elsie wore a solid green dress; Elsie a blue dress and Estella a red skirt and white blouse. They walked slowly up the driveway to the entrance. A white girl and white boy walked behind them but paid no attention to them.

Four white boys were sitting on the steps of the entrance. As the girls approached, two of the boys jumped down and walked off. The other two remained and watched as the girls walked in.

There were these other developments (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

Police Captain's Son Arrested After Chase

The 16-year-old son of a Philadelphia police captain last night gave Lower Southampton police a merry chase in and out of the streets of Feasterville before he was finally apprehended on Route 1 and Byberry Road.

The chase began shortly before 10 p.m. when Police Officer Carl Dowdell observed a car, driven by James Earl White, of 1272 Southampton Road, Philadelphia, exceeding the speed limit.

White, the son of Police Capt. Earl White of the 24th District, was said to have headed toward Philadelphia along Philmont Ave. after plowing through a white wooden fence, glancing off a pole smashing through another fence, and across a lawn.

By then, Officer Richard Henshaw, also of Lower Southampton police joined Dowdell in pursuit of the car.

White finally brought the car to a halt at the Byberry-Road 1 intersection where Philadelphia and Bustleton join. With him were two passengers, Carl Reklau, 17, and Vincent Turzo, both of Feasterville.

Lost License

White told police he had lost his wallet on Saturday which contained his operator's license and that he was afraid of being caught driving without it.

Police learned that he was also driving the car without the permit (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)

Khrushchev's Name Pops Up In Middletown Walks Hassle

Republicans and Democrats tangled bitterly over the best way to get what they want from Levitt and Sons, Inc., at last night's meeting of the Middletown Township Supervisors.

Even Khrushchev's name popped up in the argument before the battle subsided.

Tempers flared quickly when Walter S. Farley Jr., asked his fellow township supervisors to take immediate action against the Levitt firm to get the builder to do something about crumbling sidewalks, curbs and gutters in to get past our picket line," Ford added.

Bristol Township Commissioner Leonard B. Sokolove has a special reason for wanting the Soviet Premier to visit Levittown.

"My father, William Sokolove, Philadelphia, was born in Odesa, Russia," Sokolove pointed out. "Yet here I am, just one generation later, an elected member of the local governing body."

Police Chiefs John Walterick, Tullytown; John Stewart, Bristol Township; and Franklin Kirby, Falls Township, all seemed confident that their police forces would be able to handle any security risks or traffic problems that would be caused by the Soviet leader's visit.

Leaders in industry expressed interest in the proposed visit but were reluctant to make any public comment until they conferred with officials higher up.

William Levitt, of Levitt and Sons, Inc., is vacationing in Puerto Rico, and is unavailable for comment, but officials of the Levitt firm said yesterday they were "delighted" with a pre-arranged Khrushchev visit.

The Levittown official also said they would like Khrushchev to visit Levittown, N.J., a new community of 16,000 homes under construction and partially occupied.

As soon as Horace Greely McNabb, public relations director of the Levittown Businessmen's Association learned of the Eisenhower statement, he wired a welcoming telegram to the Soviet leader in Moscow.

McNabb invited Khrushchev to visit Levittown, Pa., "a real worker's paradise."

A spokesman for Rohm and Haas Co. said "If Mr. Khrushchev comes to the area and has a chance to see the area industries, Rohm and Haas would be glad to have him visit our plant in Bristol."

soon as he heard of the arrest. The U. S. Attorney in Buffalo said that as soon as he received the papers he would arrange a hearing before Federal Judge Stephen Brennan. Judge Brennan could order the men returned to Philadelphia.

Jenkins was placed under $50,000 bail and Kiter under $5,000 bail by U. S. Commissioner Boyce H. Butterfield at an arraignment yesterday.

The suspects were nabbed shortly after midnight yesterday when FBI agents surprised them in a Buffalo Motel.

Jenkins was just coming from a shower when the agents entered the room. Kiter was in his underclothing watching TV.

Neither man offered any resistance despite the fact that they were listed as "extremely dangerous."

The agents found no guns in the room. A 12 gauge, sawed-off shotgun was found in Kiter's 1949 Chrysler parked in front of the room. However, the FBI said they could find no shells for the gun.

The FBI said the pair had been in Buffalo for about a week, but agents added they did not know why.

Jenkins, they said visited several race tracks in the area, where he lost a lot of money.

Both men were nearly penniless when arrested. Agents said the suspects would not have been able to stay in the $13 per day motel much longer.

The FBI said as far as they could determine the two men did not have any friends or relatives in Buffalo.

As is usual with the FBI, a spokesman refused to say how they found the pair. He discounted, however, one report that Jenkins was spotted when he tried to buy a taxi company through a front man.

Just three weeks before his arrest Jenkins was placed on the FBI's most wanted list.

Jenkins and two other inmates clawed their way through the ceiling of their cell in Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia. They then escaped by climbing down a rope of torn sheets.

One of the trio was quickly recaptured. Jenkins and the third, Rufus Hawkins, picked up Kiter and then headed for New York.

Hawkins, who had been awaiting trial for a series of burglaries, was picked up in New York six days after the escape.

The FBI is trying to trace the activities of Jenkins and Kiter from the time they separated from Hawkins in New York.

It was reported that about $5,000 of the loot from the Broomall bank robbery was still missing when Jenkins escaped from Moyamensing.

The FBI reports that the two men probably spent this money on clothes, entertainment and horse bets.

Lower Bucks Soap Box Derby King Given Police Escort Into Akron For The Big Race

By SCOOP LEWIS

Courier-Times Staff Writer

AKRON, OHIO—One hundred and 71 champions, including Tommy Bings of Yardley, arrived here today for the 22nd annual All-American Soap Box Derby.

Amidst the blare of police escort sirens, the Derby champions were given a rousing reception in downtown Akron as the Derby fever gripped this friendly city. The record field of 171 will race Sunday in the All-American Derby for $15,000 in college scholarships and other valuable prizes.

Bings, winner of the Lower Bucks County Soap Box Derby sponsored by the Courier-Times, made the 400-mile trip here with his mother, father and brother, Bill. The latter won the 1953 Lower Bucks County Derby and was among the field of 160 in last year's All-American Derby.

Winner's Awards

After being officially greeted by the Garfield High School band in front of the Sheraton Hotel, the 170 champions were whisked off to Derbytown, the Y. M. C. A. camp where they'll stay and play, before Sunday's race.

To the winner of Sunday's race will go a $5,000 college scholarship and a trip to Pasadena, Calif., to ride atop the Soap Box Derby float in the Tournament of Roses parade prior to the 1960 New Year's Day Rose Bowl football game.

While in California, the champ will also visit movie studios, Pacific Ocean Park, Knott's Berry Farm, and world-famous Disneyland. The national champion also will be given a trip to New York City immediately after Sunday's race to make a national television appearance and for a round of sightseeing and entertainment.

Tommy Bings, after posing for photographers galore and being outfitted in his official Derby uniform joined in the swimming, recreation and sports at Derbytown. Expert counselors assist each boy at the lakeshore camp.

Tomorrow the Lower Bucks County champion will go to Derby Downs to race in his first round will take place in the Sheraton Hotel this afternoon.

The Derby Downs course is 975.4 feet long and is painted green to cut down glare. There are three racing lanes with each lane having a silver border and a dotted yellow center to guide drivers. Skirt boards along the track are capped with rubber.

Jim Miley, 15-year-old from Muncie, Ind., won last year's Derby, beating out Dive Higgins of Anderson, Ind., and Ronnie Ashley of Los Angeles in the final of a 91-race card.

Bill Bings, racing in the 18th heat last year, placed third behind Steven Buzza of Ambridge, Pa., and Tommy Little, Provo, Utah. This Sunday Bill will be rooting for his brother to win the first heat and continue on to the national championship.

Two years ago, Jerry Fowler of Lower Muckfield represented Lower Bucks County here. The 11-year-old youngster placed 11th in the field of 159. He won two heats before losing out to Carl Tarachi of Trenton.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and entertainment celebrities will be here for Sunday's race. Competing in the pre-Derby Oil Can trophy race will be Art Carney, Wendell Corey and Jimmy Dean. Last year, Pat Boone beat out Guy Madison and Eddie Bracken for the Oil Can trophy.

Following the 22nd running of the All-American Soap Box Derby the champions return to Derbytown, then go to the Goodyear gymnasium for the climactic "Banquet of Champions."

Drawings to determine the heat and the lane in which the champions will race in their first round will take place in the Sheraton Hotel this afternoon.

Final Say-So To Come From State Board

By ANTHONY PATTERSON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

All negotiations to locate a liquor store in Yardley Borough have been halted according to a spokesman for the Regional Liquor Control Board in Philadelphia. The spokesman added however, that the final decision in the matter will come from the State Liquor Control Board in Harrisburg.

"It has been our experience in the past," said the spokesman, "that when there is any opposition to the store, we immediately halt all proceedings."

In the case of the Yardley store, stated the spokesman, negotiations had hardly begun when the regional office was confronted with protests from Yardley and area clergymen.

"I've never seen the liquor control board put a store into an area where it is not wanted," added the regional official.

The spokesman commented that at the time of the board was investigating two proposed sites for a liquor store in Yardley.

Only one store would be erected, he stated.

"There was a similar situation which took place in Lancaster County," he said. "In that instance, the board has been petitioned to locate a store in that area for the past ten years and for the past ten years they have met opposition. The result has been that no store has been forced into the area."

The Yardley decision rests with State Liquor Control Board Members, Patrick Kerwin, chairman, A. D. Cohn, and B. B. Sweeney in Harrisburg.
